Police Seize Another Car

Ford Roadster in Possession of Walter Carter—Car Is Identified by Emporia Man As His Property.

The police on yesterday took charge of another automobile alleged to have been stolen, bringing up the total of seized machines to eight since the investigation began several weeks ago. The car taken yesterday was a Ford roadster found in the possession of Walter Carter, who resides on North Main street. Carter said that he purchased the machine from C. A. Frazier on September 5th. Frazier was arrested yesterday afternoon and placed under an additional $500 bond, this being given by J. McKinnery. Frazier is now under bonds totalling $5,000 on various charges of concealing and selling automobiles alleged to have been stolen property.

The Ford roadster seized yesterday was identified by W. H. Poirch, salesman of Harding Brothers, wholesale grocers, of Emporia, who claimed that the machine was stolen on August 20th in Petersburg and has not been seen since until about ten days ago when J. J. Harding, of the wholesale grocery firm in Emporia came here to identify the machine. Harding at that time examined the car but said he would not positively identify the machine as the property of his concern, although he was almost certain it was. Poirch was sick at the time and as soon as he was able, came to Danville and on yesterday identified the machine by certain distinguishing marks. The car was stolen from the street in Petersburg on the above mentioned date, while Mr. Poirch was in that city on business for his firm.

On September 5th Frazier, it is said, sold the machine to Walter Carter for $375, according to Police Officer W. T. Kessler and Detective J. C. Lewis, who have been working on the case for some time. The action yesterday was by these two officers. Frazier is still maintaining his silence in connection with the machine, which have been seized, but contends that at the proper time he will produce papers to clear him of the charges, by proving that he had purchased and paid for the cars alleged to have been stolen.

All of the automobiles seized by the police are either being held on bond has been put up for them. The cases will begin coming up next week, it was said this morning. Not until then will the matter be cleared and the public enlightened as to inside developments which have been worked out by the police under mysterious circumstances for the past several weeks.

Church Of England Needing Preachers

LONDON, March 1.—The Bishop of Durham says the Church of England cannot find ministers enough to fill its pulpits. The number of men annually ordained since the war has been less than one-third of those annually ordained before the war.

Because of the poverty to which so many of the clergy have been reduced by the war many parents have ceased to regard the church as providing desirable careers for their sons.

There are 4,000 fewer men working in the parishes of England than in 1914.

She Kills Husband After Hootch Party

Wife, Claiming Self-Defense Says There Was Too Much Liquor.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—After an all-night party in her home at No. 153 42nd street Brooklyn, at 3:20 o'clock yesterday morning, Mrs. George Eysel, 28, shot and killed her husband, also 28, a longshoreman, when he refused to stop drinking. The woman said she fired in self-defense when her husband rushed at her with a blackjack. Shortly before he had struck her several times. After this pummeling he left the house for a few minutes and returned with the blackjack. Eysel, a son of a former marriage, saw his stepfather manhandle his mother and his mother sent a bullet through the right arm of Eysel which killed him instantly.

The first story told to the police by Mrs. Eysel led them to her brother-in-law, Mr. George Eysel, who was among the half dozen at the party, doled per brother-in-law after had given her sister cause for jealousy.

More Sidelights In Girl's Death

Witness Found in New York Who Is Expected to Show Mabel Dixon Had Been Warned of Death.

Further sidelights in the investigation of the death of Mabel (Dixie) Dixon, of this city, in a New York hospital on January 22, under mysterious circumstances, were learned this morning from Harry Berman, attorney, who has been employed by Mr. and Mrs. James M. Terrell to reopen the case in New York. Mr. Berman returned to the city on Monday, having been called here on account of other pressing business matters which will require his presence after the grand jury adjourns. He will then return to New York and complete the investigation.

Formal demands were made of the district attorney for the rearrest of Martin J. Ryan, the chauffeur who was with the young woman at the time of her death, also for the location and interrogation of R. M. Bliss, the girl's husband who has been strangely missing since his wife died. The arrest and indictment of a person related to Miss Dixon by marriage is also asked.

New Rules For U. S. Railroads

The Section of Transportation Act Which Fixed Six Per Cent. Return Expires As Did Right of Roads to Ask for Loans.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Two important changes in the government's policy towards the nation's railroads became effective today. The section of the transportation act fixing six per cent. return which the roads are entitled to earn under the Interstate Commerce Commission regulations expired as did the period during which the roads under federal control during the war are entitled to ask the government for loans for aid to continue operations after the return of private management. The six per cent. return is superseded by regulations requiring the Interstate Commerce Commission to make rates to give the roads a reasonable return on the value of the property used in transportation.

Irvin J. Morgan Claims Plot To Blackmail Him

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 28.—Criminal prosecution on charges of attempted blackmail will be directed against Joseph K. Teteola, also known as Joseph K. Tetel, of Portland, Me., by Irvin J. Morgan, internationally famous musician, who is accused by Teteola of having alienated his wife's affections and induced her to elope with him to Darby, according to Alfred S. Miller, Morgan's attorney. Dr. Morgan and Mrs. Tetel were arrested last Friday in a house owned by Morgan at Darby, where Mrs. Tetel is living. They were arrested on fugitive warrants sworn out in Portland by Teteola, in which he accused Dr. Morgan and Mrs. Tetel of having eloped together from that city during his absence.

Mrs. Tetel on Sunday denounced the action taken by her husband as a "deliberate attempt to blackmail Dr. Morgan." At the Darby residence, where Dr. Morgan had gone to superintend the work of reconstructing the house there into an apartment house, the noted musician also branded Teteola's charges as "black lies" and the "fabrication of a villain seeking to obtain blackmail."

Helen Brewer, 17-year-old daughter of Mrs. Tetel, today said her stepfather offered her $400 if she would help him blackmail Dr. Morgan. "I got you mothers' money now," she said. Her stepfather told her, "and now I want to get Dr. Morgan's money. I'll pay you well—give you $400—if you'll help me. I want you to say Dr. Morgan dugged your mother and took her to Philadelphia."

This terse order was flashed to every precinct stationhouse in the city today in an effort to arrest the fashionably dressed woman who is alleged to have been the accomplice of Arthur C. In a rooming house 217 John Marshall place, the police of the Sixth precinct located a complete set of keys and recovered six fur coats valued at $2,000.

The woman accomplice of Strom is said to be in the vicinity of Washington, although her home is Scranton, Pa. The "Moll," as the "Lone Wolf" alleged accomplice is known in police parlance, was brought into the case as the result of parcel post and express receipts found among Strom's effects which bore her name and address.

ROLAND DIX IS HELD FOR THEFT OF AUTOMOBILE

Saturday morning in the recorder's court at Reidsville, Roland Dix, white, late of Danville, was held for the theft of an automobile from Tom Lowe, colored, of Reidsville. The Ford car in question was captured at Stoneville on Feb. 10 by Deputy Sheriff Jones, who testified that the car had been stolen in it when captured but that the occupants fled unrecognized that Dix had told two of the officers that he had bought a car of this description in Reidsville, but it was not conclusive proof that he referred to the particular car in question. Tom Lowe identified the car positively as his, which, he said, disappeared from the front of the house of his father Dec 3 last. Dix was bound over to the next term of Superior court and his bond fixed at $1,000.

Assault On S. A. Girl Results In $250 Fine, 90 Days

Frank Wilkinson was given a hearing this morning in South Boston on a charge of assault on a Danville Salvation Army girl at that place recently, and was fined $250 and sentenced to serve 90 days in jail. The charges were the result of an episode which took place on Tuesday, February 21, at the railway station in South Boston. Wilkinson is alleged to have approached the girl and making himself familiar with her and to have used improper language to her. It was brought out at the trial this morning that Wilkinson was under the influence of whiskey at the time. Wilkinson was not present at the trial his bond of $100 being forfeited. He had not been arrested at an early hour this afternoon.

The hearing in the case as learned today follows:

A band of Salvationists from this city, headed by Envoy Eastwood, went to South Boston February 21 on the invitation of the South Boston charity organizations to conduct a number of meetings. In the party, besides Eastwood, were four other men, five girls and one boy. After the meetings had been held and while the Salvation Army party were at the Southern station waiting for a train to return to Danville, the band was asked to give a concert. As the train was late Eastwood and his party consented.

While the concert was being held it is charged that Wilkinson approached one of the Salvation Army girls and in a conversation with her used improper language. The girl reported the matter to Eastwood and he warned Wilkinson to leave. Wilkinson did not leave and again approached her in a familiar manner and again using improper language. Eastwood then had Wilkinson arrested and bond was required for appearance for a hearing this morning at 10 o'clock before Mayor Wilborne.

Conspicuous indignation was expressed as to Wilkinson's alleged conduct. Eastwood and five witnesses went to South Boston this morning to testify in the case.

It is learned that several overtures were made by the Salvation Army here to settle the matter out of court. These overtures were turned down.

A large crowd was present at the hearing this morning.

DAMAGE SUIT IS STILL BEING HEARD

Hearing of the suit for $10,000 damages brought by Mrs. R. P. Moss vs. W. D. Fulton dairyman, which began Monday in the corporation court, was resumed yesterday. Only a few out of over 100 witnesses have been heard. The case is being heard in stages and indications are that it will continue for several days longer.

Mrs. Moss, through counsel, alleges that she contracted typhoid fever last fall from milk obtained from Fulton's dairy, the proprietor of which is alleged to have used water from Lumpkin creek to wash his milk bottles and other dairy vessels.

The only witness heard yesterday morning was State Health Officer Messer, of Richmond, who was placed on the stand when the trial was resumed at 10 o'clock. When he took the witness stand he was questioned as to his qualifications. He practiced as a bacteriologist and he did not pretend to be an expert on the matter but was a civil engineer, road surveyor and builder, bridge builder and sanitary engineer. Mr. Messer was interrogated closely. He practically admitted that Mrs. Moss could have possibly contracted the disease by eating ice cream and drinking at soda fountains or through other sources.

Mr. Messer explained his position and connection with the case by saying that he was termed as an epidemiologist.

Linn H. Enslow, assistant to Mr. Messer, was the next witness called. Following Mr. Enslow were several other witnesses. Sam Stone, a negro employee of Fulton, admitted on the stand that he had lied to the State officers when they were in Danville before making an investigation. He testified that he told them that Fulton used water from Pumpkin creek but stated yesterday that this was not the case, deprecatingly that the dairyman had used water from the creek, explaining that he made the false statements to the two men because they were officers and that they frightened him and that he was afraid to say different.

The case will be continued this morning at 11 o'clock and other witnesses examined.

Find Remains Of An Ancient People

(By The Associated Press) CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 28.—The discovery of the remains of an ancient people who once inhabited the American southwest and were intermediate in development between the Basket-makers, the earliest race known to have lived in this region, and the Pueblo cliff-dwellers, whose remarkable stone villages along the Arizona cliffs, have attracted wide public interest, has been one of the results of explorations made during the past year in the Marsh Pass region of northwestern Arizona by the Peabody Museum of Harvard University. The "Post-Basket-makers" is the name given the newly discovered people.

The Harvard expeditions to this semi-desert region, over 100 miles from the nearest railroad, were begun in 1914 by A. V. Kidder and Samuel J. Guernsey of the Peabody Museum staff and were later continued under the sole direction of Mr. Guernsey. Prior to 1914 commercial collectors had found traces of the Basket-makers, but facts about these earliest people of the region had never been secured by trained archaeologists until the Harvard expedition began. These expeditions have not only contributed a mass of information concerning the Basket-makers, but now show the existence of a people who followed the Basket-makers in point of time but preceded the Cliff-dwellers.

The "Post-Basket-makers" resembled the Basket-makers in many particulars but were clearly in a later stage of development. The Basket-makers had no permanent dwellings, whereas these later people had stone houses in caves and in the open. They also had pottery, crude in some respects but with the beginning of decoration and some of it was fired. This is the earliest pottery known to have been made in the southwest.

Instead of burying their dead in caves, as did the Basket-makers, they seem to have lived in the caves and to have conducted their burials in the open. Their more settled life is attributed to their success in agriculture. They grew corn of a primitive variety.

She's Married To Eight Men

CLEVELAND, Feb. 28.—Girls who anticipate a happy wedded life should marry for love and not for a home or money, Mrs. Jennie Seaman who today was taken to the Marysville reformatory to serve an indeterminate term for bigamy declared here last night. She admitted she married eight men without obtaining a divorce from any.

"I wouldn't advise any girl to marry unless she knows what she is doing," Mrs. Seaman said. "I married when I was 18, hoping to get a good home. My first husband was a teacher of languages in Nashville, Tenn. I got him through a matrimonial paper. I didn't love him and looking back I realize now that I never loved an man. But I wanted a good home, so I left my home in Pennsylvania and went with him to Nashville."

We lived together about a year and I found out he was a crook. Even on our honeymoon he got a number of books in Cincinnati he never paid for. I learned later he has been sent to prison for 19 years.

My next husband was a bartender. We lived together for about 12 years. He got to drinking too much and was very abusive so I left him in Meadville, Pa.

My third was a waiter, who I met in a restaurant where I worked in Buffalo. Then I married a tennin setter in a bowling alley. My fifth was a coffee house proprietor in Buffalo. Then I married a chef, a laborer, and a fake detective, a Cleveland man. He's in the reformatory now.

"Drinking and cigarettes were the cause of some of my trouble. I'm converted now and I mean to be perfect hereafter."

Killing of Mooney Is Almost Forgotten

The killing of Peter Mooney here more than 48 years ago had long been forgotten except by a few relatives until word came to Sheriff Wilson last week that the slayer was living in Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Further information was difficult to obtain until Sheriff Wilson got in touch with Zach Mooney, a cousin of the dead man and talked with other old residents. From them was drawn a story of the fatal cutting of Solomon Nettles, which was charged to Peter Mooney.

Mooney and the elder Nettles were said to have quarreled over an old "grudge." The night after that young Nettles went to Mooney's home and shot him several times, the sheriff was told.

Young Nettles was arrested in Bartow county but escaped and after a search through the State was dropped.

Sheriff Wilson was advised last week by George W. Favors, a Birmingham attorney, that a man residing at Tuscaloosa under the name of George Nichols was really Hiram Nettles, the attorney asserting that after getting a divorce recent the man's wife had declared he had told her his real name was Nettles and that he had slain Peter Mooney years ago.

Georgia law knows no statute of limitations when murder is charged and the sheriff and Solicitor General Taylor immediately took steps to find out if Nichols really was Nettles.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Miss Jennie A. Coughlin was suddenly transformed from plaintiff to defendant today when Supreme Court Justice O'Malley ordered her to pay a charge of perjury. She was taken to Tombs prison in default of $5,000 bail.

The perjury charge was based on testimony Miss Coughlin gave in a suit against John Barton Payne, as Federal investigation to have been for injuries she claimed to have suffered in an accident at Harriman N. Y.

Miss Coughlin testified she was thrown by a defective step alighting from an Erie train at the Harriman station. "Cross-examination," she ever had been treated for tuberculosis at a sanatorium in the Adirondacks asserting it was her aunt who was treated there.

The arrest and dismissal of her suit, followed testimony of two of her sisters that it was she, rather than an aunt, who took the tuberculosis treatment.

Six of the first magnitude in addition to the great ensemble of trained instrumentalists are now at the command of the famous leader and a reason of these extraordinary successes is the always extensive repertoire of the organization has been enlarged and extended into musical fields of fine adventure that are not open to any other band organization.

Precious and memorable examples of great compositions for the harp or crutch the library of Sousa's Band and with Mrs. Winifred Danforth, pianist, as soloist of that beloved instrument, as solo heretofore, stands at the forefront of the great soloists of that instrument. # Travels 1,600 Miles In Wilds Alone

Dr. Rushby Leaves Columbia Expedition in Bolivia Lest He Hamper Its Success.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Back in 1885, when he was a young chap of 30, Henry H. Rushby, then of no particular title or fame, set out to perform the extraordinary feat of traversing the South American continent from the Atlantic ocean to the Pacific, part of the way afoot, part on raft, part on mule-back.

And he did it. He climbed the westward slope of the high Andes, descended the eastward slope, struggled through the jungle to the water and completed his journey. He was the first ever to carry the American flag across that perilous stretch.

Yesterday, now arrived at the age of 67, the same Henry H. Rushby—although he has a Dr. in front of his name and a lot of important initials back of it, and is dean of the College of Pharmacy of Columbia University—reached his home on the outskirts of New York after an exploration journey that was almost identical as to route, but was infinitely more perilous for him, as matters of science and discovery, headed the Mulford Biological Expedition which departed from New York June 1 last in an endeavor to Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

The Great American Syrup

And in the South American wilds new vegetable growths that might be of medicinal value. He had seven companions, all younger than himself, some younger than he was when he made his first transcontinental journey.

In November, while the little party was encamped at Rurrenabaque, Bolivia, after it had crossed the Andes, the veteran explorer was stricken with neuritis. This lamed his left leg so badly he was forced almost to crawl along. At the same time an infected tooth caused him intense agony.

"I am useless to the expedition, so I will return," he told his comrades. And then, despite their protests and advice, he started alone for the Amazon river town of Manaus, which lay 1,600 miles east by north of Rurrenabaque. And Manaus is 1,000 miles up the Amazon from Para, the Atlantic coast port.

As Dr. Rushby sat comfortably in his study at No. 776 De Graw avenue, Newark, yesterday afternoon, it was difficult to get him to tell anything about his lone progress across the wilds of Bolivia and Brazil. He wanted to discuss rather the scientific aspect of the expedition and the wonderful motion pictures it took and the infinite prospects of commercial development South America has.

"This was not an adventure, it should be understood. It was an expedition undertaken for scientific and commercial purposes," he said. "My setting across the continent alone did not amount to so much."

But the interviewer gathered that this was what happened:

Boht his leg and his tooth caused the doctor terrible pain. He had some forceps, but no expert to extract the molar. One associate finally tried, but broke it, leaving the exposed nerve. Dr. Rushby had to hold arsenic against this with his tongue for a week to try and kill the nerve. It did not completely die—and the arsenic, getting into his stomach, made him ill.

Declining offers of companionship, because he had organized the expedition and wanted it to succeed completely, he at last started away alone. He carried a heavy load of foodstuffs, his gun and ammunition, a compass, some tools and some clothing and medicines.

For day after day—for several hundred miles in fact—this Columbia professor of 67 years progressed slowly through the wilds. He used prepared food at times. Again he shot what game he needed when he wished to change to fresh meat. Over uncharted country he kept his course by means of his compass. Occasionally he encountered friendly natives—or at least natives who were not unfriendly—but no white men.

In that part of South America where Bolivia and Brazil join there are a number of rivers that flow, generally speaking, northward and empty eventually into the Amazon. Here he found natives with rafts who took him part way in the desired direction. Again he got passage on small government launches. Where the rivers increased in size he found tiny steamers.

Most of November, all of December and part of January were consumed by this slow, tedious, lonely trip, until

DOCTORS MADE IT FAMOUS

Gude's Pepto-Mangan Has Been Prescribed by Physicians for Thirty Years.

Doctors wanted iron in a form easily absorbed into the blood and it was one of them, Dr. A. Gude, who found the way to give it. It is now sold by druggists everywhere—almost every drug store in the United States has Gude's Pepto-Mangan in both liquid and tablet form. Doctors everywhere advise weak and run-down people to build up with this splendid tonic. It puts color into the cheeks and increases strength and vitality by making the blood rich and red, and that is the only true and sure way to keep well. If you are all tired out and nervous and feel sick and "cranky," take Gude's Pepto-Mangan for a few weeks at meal time and you will feel like a new being. It is a wonderful tonic, and you will be delighted with the results.—adv.

finally a tiny Brazilian river boat swept him abreast of Manaus—"once perhaps the most important rubber shipping point in the world," as he explained, "but now practically a dead town because better and cheaper rubber is coming from the East Indies."

There is a hospital at Manaus, and a dentist, of sorts, and the offending tooth was extracted and treatment begun for the leg which had been so crippled by neuritis. After a couple of weeks' rest, Dr. Rushby boarded the steamer Polycaup, which docked in Brooklyn Sunday night.

"I'm not yet well by any means," he said yesterday, "but I hope a couple of weeks' rest will fix me up and I expect to resume my duties at the university. But I really feel better than I did last May, before we started, for I was just over an attack of pneumonia a couple of weeks before our departure. This northern climate brought back, today, some twinges of neuritis, and I feel a piece of my tooth still in the gum, but otherwise I am all right."

Dr. Rushby is wide-shouldered, heavy-chested and apparently a powerful man. His head and mustache are grayed, but his blue eyes are bright and his cheeks are burned to the brick-red that white men achieve in the tropics.

"I do not know whether we discovered any valuable new drugs or not," he said. "That cannot be determined except by experimentation. But we have collected a number of vegetable growths which we hope will be of medicinal value."

"Our collection had included, when I left the party, 25,000 sorts of insects, several hundred varieties of fishes, 100 reptiles and about 12,000 botanical specimens."

"We took some moving pictures that should be of interest. One film of about 8,000 feet shows microscopically the life history of a colony of white ants. This should be of great scientific and educational value. Our operators also were able to film the little known Aymara Indians of the Brazilian table land. These Indians were attempting a revolution at the time, so the camera men filmed them in action and ready for warfare."

"What difference, if any, did you note between the South America of your first visit and that of today?" Dr. Rushby was asked.

"It was like looking at a child first and then at a man," he replied. "Perhaps the thing that impressed me most was the absence of savages. When I was down there in 1885-87, we not only saw savages but had to fight them. I have in my collection poisoned arrows that killed some of my companions of those days. But I saw no savages this time. I saw some who had been savages, but had become civilized, or semi-civilized."

"I asked the natives: 'Where have all the savages gone?' Some said they did not know; others said, 'They have gone back deeper into the forests.' I believe that they have died off or entered semi-civilization, for the most part."

"Put apart from the scientific side of the expedition, I was interested most in the commercial possibilities South America presents. We had intended coming out by way of Colombia, which is nearest to the United States, and I think presents the best business possibilities. The United States should develop its trade and intensify its friendly intercourse with that country."

"Brazil is the worst of the South American nations. We were robbed and cheated and harassed in every possible way there, especially by petty officials—grifters. We were even accused by bankers on the rate of exchange between the milrei and the dollar."

ABERDEEN, Scotland, Feb. 28.—There was an angry protest from Scotch fishermen here when a German steam trawler recently landed a catch of fish here. She was the first enemy fishing vessel to discharge at a British port since the great war began in 1914.

All experts made heretofore, since peace was declared, to dispose of fish from German fishing craft in British ports have failed. Frequently workers in the fish trade at Scottish and English ports had refused to handle German catches.

The German trawler was successful owing to the fact that the fish porters have secretly earned a penny in wages for several weeks and needed money to buy their Sunday dinners.

A crowd of fishermen indignantly objected and held a meeting and "resolved" that under no circumstances should a German trawler be allowed to unload her catch in Aberdeen again.

Polar Bear Teaches Girls a New Dance

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—"The polar bear glide," a new dance, is being taught to youthful visitors at the Bronx Zoological Park by Silver King, the park's largest polar bear. Already several pretty Barnard girls who visited the zoo, have tried it out at Columbia University. They find it "very fascinating" when danced in conjunction with the popular "college walk."

The whole thing started about one o'clock yesterday when several couples from Columbia were watching Silver King take his morning exercise. Silver King did not miss a step for more than three hours.

"The polar bear glide," remarked one of the group humorously, "let's try it when we get back to the dorms," said another.

Double Tragedy In Dinwiddie

Liquor Sought at Time Two Were Killed Asserts Witness—Three Men Held.

PETERSBURG, Feb. 28.—The arrest of Roy Denton, a Richmond chauffeur, and the finding of 12 gallons of whiskey and about 100 gallons of mash near the Heath home, in Dinwiddie county, are late developments in the shooting that led to the death of A. H. Heath and his nephew, Melvin L. Ford.

Heath, a farmer living near Five Forks, on the White Oak road, in Dinwiddie county, about 15 miles from Petersburg, died in Petersburg hospital at 4:45 o'clock Sunday morning, after having been shot in the abdomen. His nephew, who lived with his father, James E. Ford, at 1449 Halifax street, lingered until 11 o'clock Sunday evening. Young Ford died from a similar wound. A second shot took effect in the left wrist.

With the arrest of Denton, the local authorities believe that they have rounded up the last of the principals in the affair, which occurred about 9:30 o'clock Saturday evening in the woods on Heath's farm. The others under arrest are Everett Marks, formerly of this city, but lately a resident of Richmond, who surrendered himself Sunday evening, and Henry Doyle, of Petersburg, who formerly conducted a hotel here, and who was arrested yesterday morning about 11:30 o'clock.

According to the authorities, none of the men under arrest has made a statement in regard to the shooting, and but little information was secured from Heath and Ford before they died.

Both refused to talk when seen by the coroner, E. L. McGill, but Ford is now understood to have made a short statement before he died.

The story of the shooting generally accepted by the police is made up largely of information given by James Moore, of this city, and is substantially as follows:

Marks, Doyle and Benton asked Moore to accompany them on a drive into the country, and the four left Petersburg about 8 o'clock. They drove to Heath's farm, where Marks called out the farmer and, it is alleged, opened negotiations for a quantity of liquor. Marks is alleged to have had about $100 with him, with which he was commissioned to purchase the liquor for Richmond parties.

Heath and Marks then entered the woods, the other three remaining in the car. A short time later the three heard shots from the direction in which Heath and Marks had gone, according to the statement made by Moore, and the shots were repeated after an interval, four or five in all being fired. A Ford car was driven from Heath's home and into the woods immediately after the first shots were heard.

After waiting for some time for Marks to re-appear, the three in the car returned to Petersburg, arriving here about 12:30 o'clock.

Heath and his nephew, Melvin Ford, were later brought to Petersburg hospital, each with a bullet wound in the abdomen, and Ford with a bullet in his left wrist. The physician who attended them stated that all wounds were evidently pistol wounds. The two arrived at the hospital some time between 12 and 1 o'clock, after having been brought in, so it is reported, by Ford's father.

Major John O. Walker, director of public safety, accompanied by Officers Magee and Goodwyn, visited the Heath farm yesterday, after having spent the night searching for suspects in Petersburg. They were accompanied into the county by Moore, who is not under arrest, all the evidence pointing to his having become one of the party without knowledge as to the purpose of the drive.

Signs of a still were found on a branch. The kettles, however, had been removed. Residents of the section, as well as members of the Heath family, were questioned, but according to Major Walker, no additional information was obtained.

Sheriff D. L. Boleseau and Commonwealth's Attorney W. P. Sterne, of Dinwiddie, accompanied the local officers. Sheriff Boleseau stated last evening that he could add nothing new to the statements given out by local authorities.

Funeral services for Ford are to be held this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the grave in Blandford cemetery. According to the information in the hands of the police, the young victim, who was about 19 years old, lived in Dinwiddie county until about two months ago, and since then had spent Saturday evening and Sunday of each week with his grandfather and uncle. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Ford, of 1449 Halifax street, and by two brothers, Willie Ford, of Dinwiddie county, and Linwood Ford, of this city.

A. F. Heath was about 45 years old, according to the best information obtainable, and is survived by a widow and several children, the oldest about 12 years old.

Both bodies have been viewed by a coroner's jury. The inquest will be held Thursday evening.

Better than jewels —that schoolgirl complexion

Take a lesson from Cleopatra

With a world of ancient beauty arts at her command, she depended on cleansing with Palm and Olive oils to protect, improve and preserve the freshness and smoothness of her skin.

This beautifying was not confined to the face alone. The bath was a daily ceremonial, with all ancient peoples, and palm and olive oils the cleansers used.

The girl with a clear, smooth skin, radiant with freshness and natural color, should leave jewels to those less fortunate, for she doesn't need them. The charm of a perfect natural complexion attracts far more than elaborate dress and ornaments.

If your complexion lacks the beauty which women envy and men admire, don't depend on clothes and jewelry to draw attention from its defects.

Every woman can transform her bad complexion into a good one, for attaining freshness and clear color isn't a gift of Nature, but a matter of care.

How to have a perfect skin

No girl need be afflicted with a bad complexion, for improvement is simple and easy. Daily cleansing, gentle but thorough, is the secret.

You must use soap, for nothing will remove the dirt, oil and perspiration which collects in the pores and causes most skin trouble.

Choose Palmolive, because its action is soothing. Harsh soap should never be used for washing the face.

Massage the smooth, creamy lather gently into the skin until it removes all clogging deposits. Don't forget your neck and throat. They are as conspicuous as the face for any lack in beauty.

Careful rinsing leaves the skin stimulated, freshened and free from the accumulation which enlarges the pores, causes blackheads and carry infection.

Do this every day

There is too much dirt and dust where most of us live to make it advisable to neglect this cosmetic cleansing even for a day. Powder should be removed, and rouge, if you use it. They combine with dirt and skin secretions in dangerous clogging.

Dry skins are benefited by cold cream after cleansing. If unusual dryness is your trouble, apply a little before, as well as after washing.

Blended from the same oils

Palmolive Soap is blended from the same bland soothing oils which adorned the sumptuous marble baths of Egyptians, Greeks and Romans.

Modern scientists, with all their research, have not been able to discover milder, more soothing, or more efficient soap ingredients.

But although very expensive, the gigantic volume in which Palmolive is produced keeps the price very low. Users profit by Palmolive popularity.

The Palmolive factories, working day and night, and the importation of the raw oils in vast quantities, allow you to enjoy this best facial soap for the modest price of 10 cents—no more than ordinary soap.

"I have gained thirty pounds since taking Tanlac and never felt better in my life than I do now. Mother says she hasn't seen me looking so well since I was a girl," said Mrs. Elva Caulkins, 303 Blandina St., Utica, N. Y.

"For eighteen long years I suffered from stomach trouble and sluggish liver and during all that time I hardly knew what a well day was. As I almost starved myself trying to avoid indigestion, I fell off until I was hardly more than a shadow, and was so weak I was barely able to drag myself around the house. As a result of my long suffering I became almost a nervous wreck.

"This was the condition I was in when I started taking Tanlac but today I am strong and well, feeling and looking like a different person from what I did a short time ago. It is no wonder to me that so many people praise Tanlac to the skies."

Bride's Death Laid to Poison Husband Held

Mystery Surrounds Drinking of Cyanide of Potassium by Young Woman.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1.—With the sudden death on last Saturday of Mrs. Jane C. Kouss, 24 years old, a bride of 27 days, the police today are confronted with a mystery which up to noon had baffled them.

Examination of the stomach of the woman yesterday by Dr. T. Malcolm Price, chief chemist of the District Health Department, revealed that the woman had died from cyanide of potassium poisoning. A quantity of the poison was found when an autopsy was performed at the morgue.

Peters Kouss, 26 years old, husband of the young woman, was taken into custody last night and is being held at the First precinct police station, awaiting the action of an inquest.

He held at 3 o'clock this afternoon by Dr. J. Ramsey Nevitt, District coroner, at the morgue.

Kouss was indignant at his arrest, declaring that he was in no way connected with the mysterious death of his wife. He claims that he left her in their apartment on the third floor of 922 D street northwest, where he is employed as a waiter in the restaurant on the first floor, and that a half hour later he returned to his rooms and found his wife dead, lying on the floor.

"My wife and I had been happy," said Kouss. "We had no quarrel and she had never talked of suicide. She was cheerful when I left her and I cannot account for her death. I never saw any cyanide of potassium, and I have no idea where my wife got it, if it is true she died from this poison."

"I ordered that Kouss be taken into custody as a matter of precaution," declared Capt. E. W. Brown, of the First Precinct, who has been directing the investigation of the death of the young bride.

Following the death of Mrs. Kouss, Inspector Clifford L. Grant, chief of detectives, ordered Detective Sergeants Embrey, Thompson and Sanders, the latter of the "dope squad," to make an investigation. When it was learned yesterday that Mrs. Kouss had died from cyanide of potassium poisoning, efforts were made to trace the source of the drug.

Friends of Kouss scout any suggestion that he was in any way responsible for the death of his bride. They claim that while the couple had numerous slight quarrels, she may have become unnerved and swallowed the poison with suicidal intentions.

Detectives feel that if they could learn where Mrs. Kouss obtained the cyanide of potassium they would be able to clear up the mystery surrounding the woman's death.

Druggists in the vicinity of the Kouss home were questioned, but all denied that they had sold any cyanide of potassium to anyone recently. Cyanide of potassium is a dangerous drug, and a small amount will cause instantaneous death.

One of the strange features of the case is that Kouss told the police that he drank coffee from the same cup as that used by his wife a few minutes before he left her Saturday afternoon. "I poured out a cup of coffee," said Kouss, "and took several sips of it. I told my wife to drink the rest of the coffee. She did drink some of it, and I then went down to the restaurant on the first floor."

There were several other cups in the room, the police say, and the only explanation made by Kouss for drinking of the same coffee as his wife, was that he did not want more than a few swallows.

The residue of the coffee cup also analyzed, but Dr. Price is said not to have found any trace of the cyanide in it.

Kouss and his bride were married just 27 days prior to her death. Kouss had not seen his wife for 15 years, when both lived in Greece as children.

A month ago George Panagiotou, proprietor of the Commercial Hotel, in Waukegan, Ill., a brother of Mrs. Kouss, came to Washington and asked Kouss if he wanted to marry the sister.

"I have not seen her for a long time," said Kouss, "but if I look on her and am satisfied with her, I will marry her."

The two then went to Waukegan, and it was a case of love at first sight he couple. "The next day," Kouss brought his bride to Washington and fitted up an apartment at the D street address.

Kouss worked in the restaurant at night and was about to go on duty at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon when he left his wife and went downstairs to count the day's receipts in the cash register.

"I had only been gone fifteen or twenty minutes," said Kouss. "When I returned to the apartment, found my wife lying unconscious. I called to her, but she did not answer. I lifted her on a couch, but she died while a doctor was being sent for."

Kouss will appear before the coroner's inquest this afternoon.

U. S. Build Roads To Encircle Globe

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Mileage of road-building projects under construction in the United States last year, if continuously placed would form a highway more than encircling the globe, the Department of Agriculture stated today. The total was estimated at 21,224 miles.

Every State in the United States shared in the benefits of 11,930 miles of highways which were constructed with Federal aid. The total cost of the projects will be $2,126,682. The proportion of this amount contributed by various states was $137,906,593, the remainder of $94,057,939 by the Federal government.

Wholly completed roads were computed to total 8,595 miles.

Road projection in 1921 in the United States exceeded by more than 10 per cent all previously improved highway mileage in the country.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 28.—The Eskimos of Labrador appear to be dying, or at least a deteriorating race, says Harald Lindlow, vice-governor of northern Greenland, who has just returned from a visit to the Eskimo settlements on the eastern coast of Labrador.

Mr. Lindlow said the Eskimo of Labrador did not compare well with the Greenland Eskimo and that they were in great need of protection. He asserted that they were being exploited by unscrupulous traders and driven further north year after year.

The missionaries were the only ones who gave the Eskimos any real help. Medical assistance, Mr. Lindlow said, is difficult to obtain in Labrador and the Eskimo women suffer greatly from the lack of medical attention.

Sees World Ruled By Women By 1977

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 28.—Prof. Ralph L. Powers of the University of Southern California says that by 1977 at the latest women will rule the world and men will do the housework and care for the children.

The reason for his belief, as stated by Prof. Powers in a lecture, is that the widespread advertisement of women in recent years has stimulated her to all sorts of activities, which have already begun to intrude her as the dominant sex. She is courted in business, the politicians fear overthrow unless they please her, and she has won first place in the news of the day. Her manifest destiny as ruler of the world is thus merely a matter of swift development.

FAILURE TO WIN RECOGNITION SAYS SIMS DISCREDITS

NEWPORT, R. I., Feb. 28.—Rear Admiral William S. Sims issued a statement today regarding alleged propaganda for his promotion to the grade of admiral. He said that he had decided upon his return from Europe, not to submit an official report on the inefficiency of the navy department, "there would probably be no necessity for discussing the question of my promotion at the present time."

The statement, Admiral Sims asserted, concerned "letters written by or to John L. Leighton recently published in Hearst newspapers," and characterized by those papers as propaganda for the promotion. "Though I do not for a moment wish to convey the impression that I am not human and have no ambition for myself or my children in this matter, still it is not a question of the personal interests of any one man," he said, "but it is very much a question of the influence upon the morale of the failure of the navy to receive adequate recognition for the services rendered by the navy during the war. Such a failure officially and historically discredits these forces and those who were responsible for their conduct in contact with the enemy."

GOVERNMENT VIRTUALLY IS NOT FUNCTIONING
PEKING, Feb. 28.—(By the Associated Press).—The government virtually is not functioning. This is due to the fact that the cabinet is without a head, the treasury is empty, the funding of loans is meeting with strong opposition, and the president, who is politically isolated, is unable to persuade anyone to accept the premiership.

BOND ISSUE FOR ROADS ATTACKED

RICHMOND, Feb. 28.—Favorable report by the Senate Finance committee, following closely upon similar action by the Senate roads committee, and an unofficial poll showing a majority in the Senate in favor of the twelve million dollar bond issue gave its advocates considerable encouragement today. The bill was reported by the finance committee by a vote of eight to six after a long hearing.

A poll of the Senate taken this morning showed 21 members favorable to the bill, 13 opposed and the others either non-committal or not seen. Approval of the bill was urged before the committee by Thomas B. McAdams, president of the American Bankers' Association, who declared the bill had been drawn with great care and the expenditure of the proposed bonds well safeguarded. Martin Williams, of Giles, a former member of the House of delegates, attacked the proposed bond issue vigorously, expressing belief that the bonds could not be floated without increasing taxation. "Farmers are getting tired of taxes they are paying and some day will wake up," he declared.

Williams Opposes Bonds
Judge Williams said it had been the opinion of the voters in his county that both gubernatorial candidates last year were opposed to a bond issue, and that the legislators from that section also were. He pointed to the debt of $24,000,000 the State now is smothering, much of which, he added, dates from before his father was born. He admitted, on questioning, that he had not studied the financial structure of the bill, but reiterated that he could not be convinced that bond issues could be floated without a tax increase.

Delegate George B. Kezzell, a veteran legislator, also expressed opposition to a bond issue. His attention called to the figures given out by the advocates of the measure, Mr. Kezzell declared that "no man has dealt with figures more than I, or has less confidence in the figures made by financial experts."

Kezzell Is Grieved
Mr. Kezzell said he personally was grieved by Governor Trinkle's advocacy of the bond issue. "I feel it deeply," he said, "because I gave my people a pledge that their taxes cast for Mr. Trinkle were votes cast against a bond issue. In the columns of my paper I urged his election because it would mean with more certainty the defeat of road bonds in the election of his opponent. If the governor had made his Norfolk speech before the primaries," Mr. Kezzell declared, "results in the Valley of Virginia would have been very different and he added if the election a large number of Rockingham county democrats would have gone to the day of the election. 'I want to see the cities prosper,' he said, 'but I have great sympathy for the man who rises at 4 o'clock in the morning and is through at 8 o'clock at night, and at the end of the year has not enough to pay his taxes.'"

Those who voted for a favorable report on the bill were Senators Garrett, Holt, Goodrick, Early, Cannon, Corbett, Andrews and Mapp. In opposition were Senators Byrd, Ferguson, Robertson, Beverly, Crockett and Paul. Among those listed as opposed to the bond issue but whom its advocates hope yet to win over is Senator Russell, of Campbell county and the city of Lynchburg. Petitions of various organizations are being sent him urging him to vote for the issue. Senator Russell said today that he has received a few petitions from Campbell, most of them being from Lynchburg.

FIVE ARE KILLED.
MANILA, P. I., Feb. 28.—Five persons were killed and many injured by a severe earthquake that shook the city of Cebu and vicinity today. The property damage was heavy.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Hansford MacVider, national commander of the American Legion, conferred with the President today on the bonus situation, urging immediate enactment legislation.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

SALEM MAN OUT TO MAKE ROOM FOR REPUBLICAN

Tactics of Republicans Are Condemned by Representative Woods, of Roanoke

BY GEORGE H. MANNING.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—E. S. Barnitz, Republican leader of Salem, is to get the appointment as postmaster at Salem, succeeding J. P. Saul, whose resignation was recently requested and obtained by the postoffice department. Barnitz has been recommended by Congressman Slinn as acting postmaster. The appointment will probably be made in a few days. It is probable he will get the four-year appointment as soon as the examination can be held.

The correspondence between Postmaster Saul, the postoffice department and Congressman Slinn shows that Saul's resignation was asked for after a postal inspector made the usual report that he had failed to give eight hours regularly to his duties, and reported that his efficiency rating was "poor."

It shows that as soon as the Republicans of Roanoke county had decided on Barnitz for postmaster at Salem an inspector was directed to investigate the office for the ostensible purpose of "discovering" that Saul was not properly performing his duties. It happened that the inspector failed to see the humor of the situation and turned in a good report on Saul.

No another inspector, one better trained in politics, was directed to make an investigation. He better did the wishes of the department and turned in a report stating that Saul was not giving the required eight hours to the duties of his office and gave him a mark of "poor" on office efficiency.

The department called on Postmaster Saul to resign and he recognized it as purely politics, sent in his resignation. Congressman James P. Woods feels very bitterly over the treatment of Saul, asserting it is purely political freebooting to get the jobs.

"No complaint has ever been made to me that Mr. Saul did not make a good postmaster," said Congressman Woods today. "As to the charge that he has not been giving eight hours daily to the office—that charge could be made against any postmaster."

The charges against Saul are just purely trumped up to get the job for a Republican before Mr. Saul's term properly expires. This is just an instance of manufacturing charges and of political freebooting to get the jobs. There will come a day of reckoning some day and it may not be so long as many think, either."

FIGHT BEGINS TO EXTRADITE GEO. NICHOLS

Alleged to Be H. C. Nettles Who Killed Peter Mooney in Rome, Ga., 51 Years Ago

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Feb. 28.—The State of Georgia today, through Solicitor General E. S. Taylor, of Rome, began its fight to extradite George Nichols, who is alleged to be Hiram Casey Nichols, held here in connection with the slaying of Peter Mooney in Rome, Ga., more than 51 years ago.

Nichols, through his attorneys, stoutly denied that he is Nettles, declaring that he had never gone under any name except his own, which is Nichols.

Horace C. Alford, Birmingham, Ala., attorney, empowered by Solicitor General Taylor to represent the State in the case, declared he would produce witnesses from Georgia to substantiate the allegation of Alabama and Georgia that Nichols and Nettles are the same person.

Mr. Alford said he was prepared to show that the name Nichols was assumed soon after the Rome killing.

The alleged identification of Nichols as Nettles came about through members of the man's family, according to George W. Favors, Birmingham attorney, who signed the warrant for Nichols' arrest. The attorney said that Nichols and his second wife were divorced at Tuscaloosa about a year ago. This proceeding led to the inquiry that resulted in Nichols' arrest.

Mr. Favors declared. Among persons who gave information concerning the history of the Rome case was Nichols' eighteen-year-old son, Hiram Nichols, a student at the Alabama Boys Industrial school at East Lake, according to the attorney. One other son, two daughters, and the divorced wife live in Birmingham.

Nichols has lived here for 25 years, and is said to be 75 years of age.

Alma Mann, 12-year-old daughter of an American employee in the Canal Zone, has won for herself the title of "Houdini Girl" by her unusual swimming stunts. One of her performances is to swim the canal, with her hands and feet tied. She has done it dozens of times. "Easy," she says. "Swimming always did come natural for me."

Slugging Of Girl
Still Unexplained

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Mystery surrounds the attack on Miss Dorothy Nichols, 18, who was beaten on the head by a man as she lay in bed early Sunday in her room on the first floor of No. 1 Hamilton place.

Miss Nichols is in a serious condition in the Knickerbocker hospital. Surgeons have not decided whether her skull has been fractured by three blows she received. An X-ray photograph will be taken to determine this.

She lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Nichols, in the apartment, which is on the corner of 139th street.

"Dorothy," her father said yesterday, "seems to be a bit brighter today. She wanted to know why 'Bill' Bovey, who was her escort to the party at Miss Pauline Henkel's home Saturday night, does not come to see her. Of course, she is allowed no visitors."

"She is not able to throw the slightest light on the attack. She did not see any one in her room and she does not remember being hit. Dorothy returned from the party at the Henkels about 2 o'clock Sunday morning. She talked a while with her mother about the good time she had. Then she went to bed."

The next thing we knew was when we heard a scream about 4 o'clock. I rushed into the room just in time to see a man jump through the window and hear him run. I went to the window, but no one was in sight.

"The man must have stepped into the doorway, a few feet from the window, and stood there a minute or two until I went to the telephone to call police headquarters for an ambulance."

The milkman who saw the assailant running from the Nichols apartment came along just then and spoke to Mr. Nichols. He refused to give his name, but he said:

"The man was about 5 feet 7 inches tall and weighed about 130 pounds. He wore a dark soft cloth hat and a dark suit with a large overcoat, with diagonal slash pockets."

"The first I saw him he was about to make a grab for me. I ducked and picked up an empty milk bottle and was going to swing it when he evidently saw that I didn't know what was the matter and he asked me what time it was. Then he ran along 139th street toward Amsterdam avenue."

Mr. Nichols was sure the assailant was intoxicated, because he smelled whisky in the girl's room when he entered. He did not believe the girl was struck with a window weight the intruder left in the room.

Miss Nichols was born and reared in the neighborhood in which she lives. She attended public school No. 186 and was graduated from high school. She took a special course for two years in Teachers' college, Columbia university. A month ago she took a position as milliner in an establishment in West 57th street.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—The sad story of a confessed burglar who claims to have been held up and robbed of his "best haul"—$301 in cash and jewelry worth $400—came to light last night when the police arrested Edward William and Augustus Scharnberger of Astoria. They are accused of a hold-up February 20 by Thomas A. Bell of No. 128 Newtown avenue, Astoria.

Bell was arrested Sunday night on a fire-escape at No. 125 East 72d street, Manhattan. Bell, caught with a revolver, flashlight and jimmy, is said by the police to have confessed several robberies. Clinton H. Crane at No. 876 Park avenue is reported to be one victim.

After the Crane robbery, the police quote Bell as saying he went to Ravenwood, Queens, and met William and Scharnberger. They robbed him of the loot he was carrying, he said. Both deny it.
